

The fire training and safeguarding policy

People must know to do things that can not cause fire. These help to be safe from fire accidents and be safe. We must also know how to use the fire extinguisher in case of fire so that we are able to handle that issue on our own before fire destroys many things. People must know the different types of fire extinguishers and know which type can form extinguisher work, since any type has a specific type of fire. People must know the right position when putting out fire using a fire extinguisher to avoid injuries. People must know the proper way of handling fire extinguishers when putting out fire.